IMPROVEMENT OF THE LONG COVE CREEK.—The Board of Water Supply and Sewerage recently had representations made to it by a deputation which waited on the board from the Leichhardt Council for the purpose of urging the desirability of improving the condition of the Long Cove Creek, between Marion-street and Parramatta-road, which had proved a nuisance to the surrounding inhabitants in consequence of the uncontrolled portion emptying into the creek. At Monday night's meeting of the Leichhardt Council the board informed the alderman by convention.

This system will be introduced into the Paramatta Gaol within a month, and it will then have been made general in all the larger gaols of the colony.

The opinion is held in Adelaide that the withdrawal of the New South Wales Association from the Cricket Council will lead to the disbandment of the body, and that the aggrandisement of the Melbourne Cricket Club will surely follow. Mr. Whorridge, chairman of the council, thinks that the only result of the action of New South Wales will be to play into the hands of the Melbourne Club, and that South Australia's best policy in the future will be to MATCH AGAINST SURREY.

SPLENDID BOWLING BY HOWELL.

LONDON, May 15.

The Australians commenced the third match of their tour to-day at the Kennington Oval against Surrey.

Heavy rain fell during the night and also this morning, and in consequence of the wicket being soaked the play was postponed.

There was a very large attendance of spectators.

The following have been selected to represent Surrey:—W. Brockwell, T. Hayward, H. J. Richardson, H. Richardson, T. Richardson, Marshall, Clode, Holland, R. Abel, and K. J. Key.

Johns, Laver, and Jones were omitted from the Australian team.

Early in the afternoon the sun shone out. The weather kept fine.

Surrey won the toss, and decided to bat. Abel and Brockwell opened the innings to the bowling of Trumble and Noble.

With 20 up Abel had made 9 and Brockwell 11. At 39 Howell, who was playing for the first time in England, relieved Noble and clean bowled Abel, 22, with his first delivery. One for 39, Brockwell 17.

Hayes succeeded, and runs came slowly, as the bowlers kept an excellent length, and the fielding was smart. Howell, who was in fine form, bowled Hayes when he was 59, Brockwell 23, the adjournment was made for luncheon.

It took the batsmen 10 minutes to get 50 runs.

On resuming Trumble and Howell were the bowlers, and Johnson partnered Brockwell. The former scored 15 while the latter added 6. Brockwell was then bowled by Howell. The out-goor, who made 29, was the top scorer of the innings.

Three for 80, Johnson 15.

Hayward succeeded, and the total had been increased by a single by Johnson when the latter was easily caught by Darling off Howell. Four for 81.

Iredale in the long-hind missed Hayward when he was 11. H. Richardson, who, and Hayward, 16, were both bowled by Howell. Six for 89, Howell was caught by Howell for 2, and Clode was bowled by the same hand after he scored. Eight for 108.

The remaining wickets offered very slight opposition, and fell quickly. T. Richardson, the fast bowler, was bowled by Howell for 2, and Marshall was similarly disposed off before he scored. Key was not out 4. The total of the innings was 114.

Howell bowled in splendid form. Keeping a perfect length, he beat all the batsmen and secured the whole of the wickets for 28 runs. He was unplayable, and he was admirably supported by the field.

Howell's remarkable performance with the ball was the chief feature of the day's play. The debut of Howell was a most successful and sensational one.

The Australians commenced their innings with Darling and Worrall, the latter taking Iredale's place in the first pair of batsmen. T. Richardson and Clode were the bowlers. When he had scored 10 Darling was bowled by Clode. Hill joined Worrall, who, when 22, lost his wicket to the fast bowler.

Gregory and Hill effected a useful stand, and caused several changes in the bowlers. With 29 to his credit Hill was caught by T. Richardson off Hayes—a young player who has a leg-break. Gregory was joined by Noble, and the former having obtained 36 was bowled by T. Richardson.

Iredale, who had obtained only 8 runs in three innings, joined Noble, and the pair played out time. Noble made 13 and Iredale 8.

The visitors had lost four wickets for 122 when stumps were drawn.

The following are the scores:—

lied in no federation at all, for in no compact could any man stand out and demand every benefit to himself. (Applause.) Much had been said about having the Central Capital in Sydney, but he did not think that it would matter one bit. It would be of no benefit to Sydney. (Applause.) While he was pleased with the movement, he was not in favor of the capital being in New South Wales, even on that point he was not in favor of the people of New South Wales being prepared to trust the people of the other colonies. It was not the question of the way in which it suited to their interests. If it happened of the measure tried to settle the bill in the way in which it suited to their interests, it would be a mistake. It would be a mistake to say that he was a federalist unless he was prepared to say on what terms he would federate, and it was a little clear that anti-party could not do that. (Applause.) Dealing with the financial aspect of the question, he would say that he was not in favor of other men could not predict what the financial position of the federated colonies would be in 10 years' time.

Alderman MacLennan moved:—“That this meeting approve of the action taken by the meeting on the 11th inst. and urge upon them to accept its provisions.”

Alderman Woodlands seconded the motion, saying upon being put to the question was carried unanimously and with cheers.

ENGINE-DRIVER AND FIREMAN KILLED

ZEEHAN, Tuesday.

A terrific boiler explosion occurred here at 7 o'clock this morning. The locomotive on the North-East Dundas train, which was about to start on its usual journey, exploded. The locomotive was driven by Mr. James Macdonald, and the fireman was David Joseph, the engine-driver, and Thomas Munn, stoker, were killed. Munn was found dead, and Joseph lived a couple of hours. Both were awfully mangled. The explosion happened while the engine and train were passing from the Zeeman main station to the North-East Dundas siding. The locomotive was travelling at a speed of 15 miles an hour into the air, and traversed a distance of 500 yards, plunging into the ground twice, and rising again before it came to rest. A top of a big telegraph pole, narrow gauges are recorded, but beyond the two men who met their death, nobody was hurt. It is impossible to conjecture the cause of the explosion, but the locomotive was a new one, both men in charge were thoroughly experienced and trustworthy. The ground around the explosion was strewn with pieces of cast iron fragments of the locomotive within a radius of 100 ft.

It remains to be seen whether the Americans will be able to carry out their policy. Mr. Hogue proposes, in view of the fact that he has been a long time absent, and that he has many other things to do, to leave the matter to be settled both before returning duty at San Francisco and after his return to the States.
